Mrs. H. C. Timmonds Killed.

Mrs. Katherine Timmonds, the wife of Judge H. C. Timmonds, formerly of Lamar and well known here, was killed in a runaway accident at Kansas City last Sunday. The judge himself suffered a broken leg that will confine him to the hospital for some time.

Judge Timmonds and his wife were driving east on Independence avenue yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock when an automobile coming from behind frightened the animal. The horse dashed down the avenue and Judge Timmonds pulled on the reins as hard as he could to hold him in. At the corner of Montgall the right rein broke and the pressure on the other line caused the horse to turn up the side street and dash the buggy against a tree about twenty-five feet from the corner. The occupants were throw out against another tree, Mrs. Timmonds striking on her head.

Mrs. Timmonds regained consciousness only for a moment, and asked a friend to telephone their children of the accident, immediately relapsing into unconsciousness that lasted to the end.

Judge Timmonds was defeated for the Democratic nomination for judge of the Kansas City court of appeals in 1894. He was nominated, but defeated in the following election. For the past five years he has been with his present law firm, of which United States Senator William H. Warner is senior partner.

The automobilists who caused the accident went on without paying any attention to the runaway. Judge Timmonds said that he was unable to tell how many persons occupied the car or to find out the number.

"The horse we were driving had shied at automobiles several times during the afternoon," he said.

Still Warm at Sheldon.

F. F. Lear was at Sheldon Saturday and Sunday and reports that the strain ed feeling that marked the recent city campaign up there has not abated since the election, the people being still divided among themselves, and even more bitterly than ever since two or three law suits have followed the campaign. The old phone company has sued to prevent the Bell people from coming into the town, which suit if upheld would have put things just where they were before the election. However, Judge Thurman of Lamar, before whom the case was tried, refused to grant the injunction. So the Bell phone will probably get in at once, and with the aldermen in their favor and the mayor "fermost" them the situation promises all sorts of lovely developments in the near future.

Missouri's Cow Queen Dead.

The blue ribbon Jersey cow of the Missouri Agricultural college farm at Columbia. She fell in a ditch and succumbed to the injuries she sustained. Her name was Pedro's Estella, 3½ years old. Her mother and grandmother were Missourians and her great-grandmother was a native of Massachusetts. During one year she gave 712 pounds of butter.

This is more than 100 pounds more than the previous world beating Jersey produced in the same time.

This one cow would have supplied the tables of seven average families of five persons with butter during the entire year, would have furnished skim milk for all the families to drink and employ in cooking, and would furnish fresh butter for all members of the family.

The Sane Woman's Club.

If the average woman's club were carried out along the sane lines: along lines of actual benefit to the community in which its members live, it would be a factor for power and for good which this magazine would be the first to applaud. Just fancy, for a moment, a State Federation of woman's clubs offering a substantial prize for the prettiest, best-kept and most attractive town or village of a certain size within its State borders. Just calculate the valuable and attractive enterprises that such an offer would set in motion: what interesting expeditions, communions and acquaintanceships, and all on a sane, healthy basis, it would develop and bring about. To make the young people of our small towns in love with their surroundings, an actual part of their village life, imbued with the spirit to make their home more attractive—is there a finer spirit, a higher ambition to cultivate? Of what value are papers, copied from every encyclopedia and ill-digested, on Egyptian art, medieval literature and what-not, compared to such a community work that would make the face of the earth more beautiful and the people more content?—Woman's Home Companion.

This Jasper Farmer Lost $18.00 in 5 Weeks Without a Separator

H. Heartley, who farms out 5 miles northwest of here, has 8 milch cows and uses a separator. Recently his separator was in need of repairs, and he sent it in to the manufacturers. It was gone 5 weeks, and in that time its absence cost its owner just $18.00. There's no mistake about it, for Mr. Hartley kept his books accurately to determine the difference between separator and separatorless dairing. That would be $187.20 in one year that his separator saves Mr. Heartley. In the five years he has owned his separator it has therefore saved him $936.00, nearly a thousand good hard dollars, provided he has averaged as high as eight cows for that time.

That $936.00 would mean in the case of many of you, the difference between success and failure.

Do you suppose that any argument that could be produced could induce Mr. Heartley to try dairying without a separator?

The gist of it all is that if you have milch cows you ought to have a separator, and the best one made, at that. The best separator is the DE LAVAL. We sell it. We want to tell you all about the DeLaval and why you need it. Come in and see one at our store.
